

Janeen Vilven-Doggett Named in 2011 “Who’s Who in Technology” (May 2011)

Janeen Vilven-Doggett has been named in New Mexico Business Weekly's 2011 “Who’s Who in Technology”, in the Facilitators category, for her dedicated work connecting tech companies with resources. Janeen is an accomplished scientist who earned her Ph.D. in Biomedical Sciences in 1997 and law degree from UNM in 2001. She is a partner at Peacock Myers and continues to be listed in Best Lawyers in America.

Janeen is known in the biotechnology community as the go-to IP attorney for chemical and life science matters, and has a long list of highly-successful clients. Her clients, many of whom are major players in the biotechnology arena, rely on Janeen for her expertise and guidance, as they work towards significant life-saving advancements in medical diagnostic and treatment technologies. Janeen is past president and now secretary of New Mexico Biotechnology and Biomedical Association and chairs the advisory committee for Central New Mexico Community College’s biotech program. Janeen is also an inventor and holds two patents!

Congratulations, Janeen!