On December 12, 2018, New Mexico State University's Arrowhead Center is hosting the second annual New Mexico SBIR/STTR Innovation Summit at the Albuquerque Convention Center. This year's summit will bring together a wide range of business and government leaders to foster innovation in New Mexico. The summit will include talks by industry and government leaders who will provide tips on navigating the SBIR/STTR system. The summit will also afford small business owners the opportunity to have one-on-one meetings with government officials.
